

This is Not My Hat Revising for Style
Names
REVISE Author Jon Klassen uses the following patterns throughout This is Not My Hat. Use these sentence stems and revise your retelling to include patterns that are similar to the authors. And even if ____, he probably ____. But I will ____. So I ____.	Revise Retelling: Find several places in your retelling where you can revise your writing to imitate the author’s patterns. And even if _____ _____ he probably _____ _____. But I will _____ _____. So I _____ _____. Other revisions to more closely imitate author style:

REWRITE

Now that you have revised, rewrite your ending in the space provided.

REVIEW/FEEDBACK

Switch stories with another group. Then the other group will answer the questions to provide some additional feedback.

1. What part of the new story did you like?

2. What part of the new story did you want more information or details?

3. Does the retelling feel like it fits with the author's writing? What's another place where the writers could imitate the author's style?

--	--